

Andy Jordan

I am a contemporary acrylic painter of landscapes, seascapes and cityscapes.

I was born and brought up in London and moved to the West Country in the 1970s. My initial source of inspiration came from the beauty of the magnificent South Devon coast. I now live in South Northamptonshire and, as a member of a local “En plein air” art group, love to spend time painting in the local countryside. I also make regular painting trips to South Devon to capture the unique Devonian beauty and light. My art is characterised by atmospheric paintings featuring strong compositions, with vibrant colours and bold contrasts.

My recent local exhibitions include:

- October 2014 Network Arts exhibition at Alfred East Gallery (Winner of the People’s Choice award)
- October 2015 “In Two Minds” exhibition at J Gallery
- April 2016 Pitsford Easter exhibition
- October 2016 South Northamptonshire Art Trail
- February 2017 Northamptonshire Town and County exhibition
